

To Whom It May Concern -

9-20-99

I would like to go on record for having attempted to call Jane Henney 510 391-8277 ext 10 on 9/11/99 to ask her not to allow antibiotics to be used in livestock feed if that antibiotic is used in human medicine.

It is, in my opinion, shameful that that office would not accept my statement at that time but instead has forced me to write this note to relay the same message. I feel this is an attempt to squelch public opinion as many people barely have enough time to make a phone call never mind write a letter.

However, the issue of antibiotics in livestock feed is of such concern to me that I am here writing to you to inform you of my concern. Since the antibiotics are often used to counteract the effects of crowded living conditions + poor hygiene, I suggest you request that the farmers let the animals have a humane existence and let them run free, while at the same time eliminating the use of antibiotics on the livestock which in turn is negatively affecting the general population of citizens.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
